Celebrates 100th Birthday

Mrs. Lena Rider Hanenkrat observed her 100th birthday on Wednesday, April 30.

Born in a small village in Ohio April 30, 1875, Mrs. Hanenkrat tells us she was raised by her grandparents.

In talking with this charming, alert, little lady she said, "on the 20th day of September in 1893 I married Frank W. Hanenkrat. In 1917 I moved to Appomattox and I have been here ever since."

During her life span thus far, Mrs. Hanenkrat has gone from the era of the ox-cart in years past to a cross-country flight to California by jet plane at the age of 86.

She celebrated her birthday with a family luncheon on Sunday at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hanenkrat.

Mrs. Hanenkrat is the mother of four children, Charles F. Hanenkrat of Richmond; Mrs. Anna Doverspike of Wisconsin; Mrs. Alma Hemmer of New York; and W. Frank Hanenkrat of Appomattox. She said, "I have 13 grandchildren, 27 great grandchildren, and 10 great - great grandchildren . . . and if you want to know, I can tell you my social security number." Not being able to remember my own, I did not ask.

She has received birthday greetings from 9 states, expects more and has received "special greetings" from President and Mrs. Gerald Ford, congratulating her on her 100th birthday.

Mrs. Hanenkrat doesn't really have a hobby but she enjoys writing letters to friends.

C of C Held Dinner Meeting

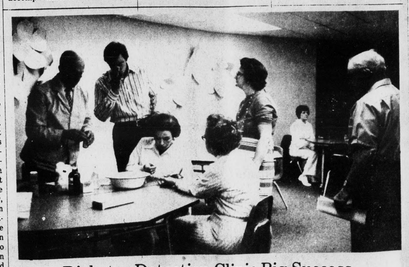
The Appomattox County Chamber of Commerce held a dinner meeting at the Falling River Country Club on April 22.

A social hour preceded the dinner which was enjoyed by all attending.

Thomas Matthews, President of the C of C, presided over the brief business session.

Dr. E. C. Tutwiler, guest speaker for the evening, gave a most interesting talk on the accomplishments of the Chamber during the past year and discussed plans for the future.

The results of a survey made by the Chamber were given by Dr Tutwiler. They were 90 per cent of the members felt that 1. the Chamber needed to publish a newsletter; 2. remodel downtown Appomattox; 3. there is a need for more department stores; 4. there is a need for more doctors; and 5. that a permanent Chamber of Commerce be established.



Diabetes Detection Clinic Big Success

The first Diabetes Detection Clinic to be held in Appomattox County on Sunday afternoon was termed by sponsors as a big success and they were well pleased with the turn out of over 300 persons.

The Appomattox Health Planning Council sponsored the clinic with all community agencies participating. The diabetes clinic was FREE to all who came out and citizens taking advantage of the clinic also received "blood pressure screening" by members of the Appomattox County Rescue Squad at the same time.

Local physicians and local registered nurses were on hand to do the actual testing. The actual number of persons with either blood pressure problems or the number needing further testing for diabetes is not available at this time.

County Extension Office To Offer Decoupage Classes

Beginning on May 8, 1975 the Appomattox County Extension Office will offer decoupage classes. These classes will be for beginners and will help the participant learn how to handle various art mediums to obtain the desired results in a finished product.

Continental Telephone Seeks Rate Increase

Continental Telephone Company, citing depressed earnings and steadily rising costs, has asked the State Corporation Commission for permission to raise its rates.

The proposal was filed on a combined basis on behalf of Continental's four Virginia subsidiaries: Commonwealth Telephone, First Colony, Tidewater, and Continental of Virginia.

The request now goes to the Virginia State Corporation Commission which will study the application and then rule on the increase. If approved, however, the proposal would raise rates in the company's Western District by an average of 9 cents a day for residential customers and 15 cents a day for businesses. "It should be kept in mind that this is only an average," according to Lester Beydler, district commercial manager. "Some increases would be higher, some lower depending on the particular customer's location and type of service. And, of course, the actual amount also depends on the commission's final decision."

Standardized charges also would be established for installations, extensions, and other services and supplemental equipment. For example, the charge for extensions throughout the company's Virginia operations would be $2.25 for businesses and $1.50 for residences.

A two-tier system of charges would be established for installations. Where the phone had been left in place by the previous customer, the charge would be $21 for businesses and $14 for residences. Completely new installations would cost $30 for businesses and $20 for

Appomattox Administrative Building - Central Virginia Community College

Central Virginia Community College, a two-year institution established as a member of the Virginia Community College system, provides State-supported educational facilities beyond the high school level for the cities of Lynchburg and Bedford and the counties of Amherst, Appomattox, Bedford, and Campbell. The curriculums and programs of the school serve more than 160,000 people within this geographical jurisdiction.

As you enter the campus of Central Virginia Community College, located at the intersection of U.S. Route 29 South and the Lynchburg Expressway (Route 460), the first building you see as you go around the circular drive is the Appomattox Administrative Building, previously dedicated, the building now officially has this name and citizens of Appomattox County are proud that this particular building bears the name of our county.

The Appomattox Administrative Building houses the college reception room, conference room, offices of the president of the college, the deans, admissions & records and continuing education department.

Dr. J. A. Mathews of Appomattox is Vice-President of the Board and has been on the board for a number of years.

With academic excellence its aim in all areas, the College offers various programs to meet the diverse needs of the region it serves. Its two-year college transfer programs in arts and sciences and in certain pre-professional areas lead to associate degrees and offer credits generally acceptable for transfer to four-year institutions.

Other buildings recently dedicated include the Amherst Classroom and Laboratory Building which houses business classes, allied health, science labs, data processing, English, math, social sciences and general classrooms, the counseling center, student lounge, and the machine shop; the Bedford Learning Resources Building houses learning labs and the library; and, the Campbell Classroom and Laboratory Building houses the engineering programs department.

Central Virginia Community College has truly been most beneficial to students of "all ages" from our community as well as from the other areas it serves.
